QUARRY
INNOVATION CENTER

Protecting Habitat Requires More Than Good Intentions.

Protecting San Bruno Mountain doesn't end with preserving open space. It requires ongoing restoration, invasive plant removal, habitat monitoring and long-term stewardship.

That Work Depends on Reliable, Long-term Funding.

The Quarry Innovation Center is designed to help through:

$1.8 million estimated initial contribution to the San Bruno Mountain Habitat Conservation Plan (HCP)

Annual ongoing contributions to the San Bruno Mountain HCP to support long-term habitat stewardship

57% of the quarry property permanently protected as open space

Additional community benefits that exceed regulatory requirements negotiated in the Development Agreement

Project approvals and the Development Agreement between the City of Brisbane and Orchard Partners will turn these claims into binding commitments.
